Credit No. 5001-MD
Project ID No. P120913

Assignment Title: Vacancy Scraping – Data Collection

Reference No. CS-S/50/IDA

The Government of the Republic of Moldova has received financing from the World Bank toward the cost of the Strengthening the Effectiveness of the Social Safety Net Project (SESSNP), and intends to apply part of the proceeds for consulting services.

One of the tasks of the project is to improve the administrative efficiency of social assistance, including the effectiveness of activation services provided by the National Employment Agency (NEA). Due to the NEA limited analysis capacities and in order to understand the gap between job offers registered by public employment service and private services or job search platforms, a much broader analysis and design are needed. Under the SESSNP, the Ministry of Labor, Social Protection and Family intends to establish the base for a regular exercise in order to collect and analyses the data on labor market needs.

Objective of this assignment is to strengthen the Government of Moldova capacity for evidence-based policymaking in the area of skills and employment. As such, the objective is to perform a data analysis of NEA data on job vacancies and scraped data on job vacancies from online platforms.

The consultant will develop a vacancy scraping tool that periodically collects and stores information about each job posting on Moldovan job searching websites, as well as develop/refine a program that organizes all job postings collected and extracts information about company, skills and qualifications needed for the position, salary and benefits provided, and other information contained in the posting. The consultant will work with international expert in data analysis.

The assignment is expected to commence on February 2017. Details of the assignment are provided in Terms of reference.

Ministry of Labor, Social Protection and Family now invites eligible individual consultants to indicate their interest in providing the Services. Interested Consultants should provide information demonstrating that they have the required qualifications and relevant experience to perform the Services. The application should include cover letter, professional CV and detailed information about the projects connected to this assignment, that were implemented by the consultant.
